Read the following passage , then answer the questions:

Philbrook and Michele Gran were married in 1979. Instead of taking a honeymoon cruise to the Caribbean, they decided to spend a week in a rural village in Guatemala, where they helped raise money for an irrigation project . When they returned to their home, the local newspaper wrote a story about their unusual honeymoon. Soon, people started contacting them, asking how they could plan a similar trip . Philbrook said, “We knew there was a need in rural communities around the world, and now we were learning people wanted to do this.”

In 1984, the couple founded Global Volunteers, a non profit agency for people of all ages who want to spend their vacations helping others. Now, this organization sends about 2000 volunteers each year to community development programs in twenty countries. These projects are focused on helping children and their families. Volunteers work side by side with local people.

Read the following passage , then answer the questions.

Garbage does not disappear when you toss it in a can. The average American throws away an estimated 1600 pounds of waste each year. Where does all that trash go?

There are four methods to managing waste: recycling , landfilling, composting and incinerating.

Recycling is turning waste into new materials. It can reduce pollution and energy consumption. Yet, some argue that it uses more energy than it saves.

Landfilling is burying garbage in a hole. Garbage is compacted before it is thrown in the hole. So, more garbage can fit in each landfill, but it may pollute the water supply.

Composting is when people pile up organic matter, producing compost which can be added to the soil. Yet, it is hard if inorganic materials are mixed up with organic materials.

Incinerating is burning the garbage. The heat produced can be used to generate power, but it pollutes the air.

To conclude, the community where you live manages waste. The choice is yours.

Answer the following questions :

44- Why do you think that garbage must be compressed ?
